Annals of Vascular Surgery 1992

A

Abdominal aorta
Axillobifemoral bypass and aortic exclusion for vascular septic lesions: A multicenter retrospective study of 98 cases. Bacourt et al. (France) 1992; 6:119–126
Simultaneous reconstruction of infrarenal abdominal aorta and renal arteries. Branchereau et al. (France) 1992; 6:232–238

Abdominal aortic aneurysm
Characterization of an elastase from aneurysmal aorta which degrades intact aortic elastin. Reilly et al. (USA) 1992; 6:499–502
Delayed rupture of an internal iliac artery aneurysm following proximal ligation for abdominal aortic aneurysm repair. Deb et al. (USA) 1992; 6:537–540
False aneurysm of the abdominal aorta due to Brucella suis. Bergeron et al. (France) 1992; 6:460–463
High coincidence of inguinal hernias and abdominal aortic aneurysms. Lehnert and Wadouh. (Germany) 1992; 6:134–137
Human immunodeficiency virus and infected aneurysm of the abdominal aorta: Report of three cases. Gouny et al. (France) 1992; 6:239–243
Pathogenesis of acquired aneurysms of the abdominal aorta. Anidjar and Kieffer. (France) 1992; 6:298–305

Acquired immunodeficiency syndrome
Human immunodeficiency virus and infected aneurysm of the abdominal aorta: Report of three cases. Gouny et al. (France) 1992; 6:239–243

Air–plethysmography
The hemodynamics of venous ulceration. Welkie et al. (USA) 1992; 6:1–4

Amaurosis fugax
Amaurosis fugax: Is it innocuous? Rosenthal et al. (USA) 1992; 6:281–288

Amputation
Diabetes mellitus and vascular surgery. Strandness. (USA) 1992; 6:95–98
Natural history of claudicants with critical hemodynamic indices. Fowl et al. (USA) 1992; 6:31–33

Anastomosis
Atraumatic vascular anastomoses using a tourniquet. Collier. (USA) 1992; 6:34–37
Pelvic blood flow following aortobifemoral bypass with proximal end-to-side anastomosis. O'Connor et al. (USA) 1992; 6:493–498

Aneurysm
Aneurysm of lateral circumflex femoral artery in association with multiple atherosclerotic aneurysms. Lancashire and Galland. (England) 1992; 6:289–291
Aneurysms of the extracranial internal carotid artery due to fibromuscular dysplasia: Results of surgical management. Bour et al. (France) 1992; 6:205–208
Arterioureteral fistula after extended resection of pelvic tumors: Report of three cases and review of the literature. Dervanian et al. (France) 1992; 6:362–369
Axillobifemoral bypass and aortic exclusion for vascular septic lesions: A multicenter retrospective study of 98 cases. Bacourt et al. (France) 1992; 6:119–126
Behçet's disease revealed by double peripheral arterial involvement. Chaillou. (France) 1992; 6:160–163
Bilateral infrapopliteal artery aneurysm. Katz et al. (USA) 1992; 6:168–170
Delayed rupture of an internal iliac artery aneurysm following proximal ligation for abdominal aortic aneurysm repair. Deb et al. (USA) 1992; 6:537–540
Dysplastic lesions of renal artery branches: Late results of ex vivo repair. Barral et al. (France) 1992; 6:225–231
Extrahepatic portal vein aneurysm: Report of a case treated by thrombectomy and aneurysmorrhaphy. Glazer et al. (USA) 1992; 6:338–343
Fibromuscular disease of the renal artery: A new histopathologic classification. Alimi et al. (France) 1992; 6:220–224
Human immunodeficiency virus and infected aneurysm of the abdominal aorta: Report of three cases. Gouny et al. (France) 1992; 6:239–243
Hypertension due to an aneurysm of the left renal artery in a patient with neurofibromatosis. Faggioli et al. (Italy) 1992; 6:456–459
Increased intestinal permeability: Implications for thoracoabdominal aneurysm repair. Cohen et al. (USA) 1992; 6:433–437
Infective aneurysm of the popliteal artery due to Salmonella enteritidis. Habozit et al. (France) 1992; 6:464–466
The repetitive vascular catastrophes of Behçet's disease: A case report with review of the literature. Sherif et al. (USA) 1992; 6:85–89
A simple technique of renal transplant preservation during aortic reconstruction. Laborde et al. (USA) 1992; 6:550–552
Simultaneous reconstruction of infrarenal abdominal aorta and renal arteries. Branchereau et al. (France) 1992; 6:232–238
Surgical repair of a celiac axis aneurysm and renal oncocytoma: A single case report. Taheri et al. (USA) 1992; 6:453–455

Surgical repair of a celiac axis aneurysm and renal oncocytoma: A single case report. Taheri et al. (USA) 1992; 6:453–455

Aneurysmorrhaphy
Extrahepatic portal vein aneurysm: Report of a case treated by thrombectomy and aneurysmorrhaphy. Glazer et al. (USA) 1992; 6:338–343
Angioplasty
Sequential intraluminal ultrasound evaluation of balloon angioplasty of an iliac artery lesion. Tabbara et al. (USA) 1992; 6:179–184
Successful percutaneous balloon catheter treatment of renal artery occlusion and anuria. Schneider et al. (USA) 1992; 6:533–536
Angioscopy
The natural history of intimal flaps caused by angioscopy. Hsiang et al. (Canada) 1992; 6:38–44
Safety of saline irrigation for angioscopy: Results of a prospective randomized trial. Kwolek et al. (USA) 1992; 6:62–68
Anuria
Malignant fibrous histiocytoma of the aorta complicated by anuria. Fonseca et al. (Spain) 1992; 6:164–167
Successful percutaneous balloon catheter treatment of renal artery occlusion and anuria. Schneider et al. (USA) 1992; 6:533–536
Aorta
Acute colorectal ischemia after aortic surgery: Pathophysiology and prognostic criteria. Farkas et al. (France) 1992; 6:111–118
Aortic false aneurysms after prosthetic reconstruction of the infrarenal aorta. Gautier et al. (France) 1992; 6:413–417
Characterization of an elastase from aneurysmal aorta which degrades intact aortic elastin. Reilly et al. (USA) 1992; 6:499–502
Malignant fibrous histiocytoma of the aorta complicated by anuria. Fonseca et al. (Spain) 1992; 6:164–167
Pelvic blood flow following aortobifemoral bypass with proximal end-to-side anastomosis. O'Connor et al. (USA) 1992; 6:493–498
A simple technique of renal transplant preservation during aortic reconstruction. Laborde et al. (USA) 1992; 6:550–552
Aortic bifurcation
Jacques Oudot and his contribution to surgery of the aortic bifurcation. Natali. (France) 1992; 6:185–192
Aortic reconstruction
The role of intravenous fluorescein in the detection of colon ischemia during aortic reconstruction. Bergman et al. (USA) 1992; 6:74–79
Aortobifemoral bypass
Pelvic blood flow following aortobifemoral bypass with proximal end-to-side anastomosis. O'Connor et al. (USA) 1992; 6:493–498
Aortofemoral bypass
Unilateral iliac artery occlusive disease: A randomized multicenter examining direct revascularization versus crossover bypass. Association Universitaire de Recherche en Chirurgie and Ricco. (France) 1992; 6:209–219
Aortoiliac disease
Aortic false aneurysms after prosthetic reconstruction of the infrarenal aorta. Gautier et al. (France) 1992; 6:413–417
Bypass to the lateral circumflex femoral artery. Gradman. (USA) 1992; 6:344–346
Pelvic blood flow following aortobifemoral bypass with proximal end-to-side anastomosis. O'Connor et al. (USA) 1992; 6:493–498
Aortoiliac thromboendarterectomy
Technique and results of vascular endoscopy in arterial and venous reconstructions. Woefle et al. (Germany) 1992; 6:347–356
Arterial dissection
Fibromuscular disease of the external iliac artery. Thévenet et al. (France) 1992; 6:199–204
Arterial mechanics
Chronic histologic changes after vascular clamping are not associated with altered vascular mechanics. Dobrin et al. (USA) 1992; 6:153–159
Arterial reconstruction
Aortic false aneurysms after prosthetic reconstruction of the infrarenal aorta. Gautier et al. (France) 1992; 6:413–417
Duplex scanning for the intraoperative assessment of infrainguinal arterial reconstruction: A useful tool? Cull et al. (USA) 1992; 6:20–24
Early results of infrainguinal arterial reconstruction with a modified biological conduit. Wagner et al. (USA) 1992; 6:325–333
Technique and results of vascular endoscopy in arterial and venous reconstructions. Woefle et al. (Germany) 1992; 6:347–356
Arterial wall injury
The arterial wall response to intimal injury in an experimental model. Neville et al. (USA) 1992; 6:50–54
Arteriography
Duplex scanning for the intraoperative assessment of infrainguinal arterial reconstruction: A useful tool? Cull et al. (USA) 1992; 6:20–24
Persistent hypoglossal artery: An anomaly leading to false-positive carotid duplex sonography. Widmann and Sumpio. (USA) 1992; 6:176–178
Radiologic intervention for the failing in situ vein bypass. Tittley et al. (Canada) 1992; 6:25–30
Safety of saline irrigation for angioscopy: Results of a prospective randomized trial. Kwolek et al. (USA) 1992; 6:62–68
Arteritis
Takayasu's arteritis and temporal arteritis. Procter and Hollier. (USA) 1992; 6:195–198
Atherosclerosis
Management of juxtarenal aortic occlusions: Technique for suprarenal clamp placement. Gupta and Veith. (USA) 1992; 6:306–312
Nonatherosclerotic causes of lower extremity claudication. Park et al. (USA) 1992; 6:541–549
Radial artery collateral aneurysm: A rare entity resulting from an unusual etiology. Khatri et al. (USA) 1992; 6:530–532
Simultaneous reconstruction of infrarenal abdominal aorta and renal arteries. Branchereau et al. (France) 1992; 6:232–238
The synergistic effect of hypercholesterolemia and mechanical injury on intimal hyperplasia. Stevens et al. (USA) 1992; 6:55–61

Unilateral iliac artery occlusive disease: A randomized multicenter examining direct revascularization versus crossover bypass. Association Universitaire de Recherche en Chirurgie and Ricco. (France) 1992; 6:209–219

Atrium

Retrieval of Greenfield filter from the right atrium. Sadighi and Frost. (USA) 1992; 6:173–175

Axillobifemoral bypass

Axillobifemoral bypass and aortic exclusion for vascular septic lesions: A multicenter retrospective study of 98 cases. Bacourt et al. (France) 1992; 6:119–126

B

Bacterial translocation

Acute colorectal ischemia after aortic surgery: Pathophysiology and prognostic criteria. Farkas et al. (France) 1992; 6:111–118

Balloon catheter

The synergistic effect of hypercholesterolemia and mechanical injury on intimal hyperplasia. Stevens et al. (USA) 1992; 6:55–61

Behçet's disease

Behçet's disease revealed by double peripheral arterial involvement. Chaillou. (France) 1992; 6:160–163

The repetitive vascular catastrophes of Behçet's disease: A case report with review of the literature. Sherif et al. (USA) 1992; 6:85–89

Bioimpregnated knitted grafts

Comparative evaluation of the elasticity and flexibility of bioimpregnated knitted grafts. Patel et al. (USA) 1992; 6:127–133

BioPolyMeric grafts

Early results of infrainguinal arterial reconstruction with a modified biological conduit. Wagner et al. (USA) 1992; 6:325–333

Blindess

Amaurosis fugax: Is it innocuous? Rosenthal et al. (USA) 1992; 6:281–288 "Blue toe" syndrome

Spontaneous peripheral arterial microembolization. Katz and Kohl. (USA) 1992; 6:334–337

Brachial plexus

Cervical rib variant: Report of a case. Kosenak et al. (USA) 1992; 6:292–293

Brucellosis

False aneurysm of the abdominal aorta due to Brucella suis. Bergeron et al. (France) 1992; 6:460–463

Bypass

Axillobifemoral bypass and aortic exclusion for vascular septic lesions: A multicenter retrospective study of 98 cases. Bacourt et al. (France) 1992; 6:119–126

Bypass to the lateral circumflex femoral artery. Gradman. (USA) 1992; 6:344–346

The influence of groin sepsis on extraanatomic bypass patency in patients with prosthetic graft infection. Taylor et al. (USA) 1992; 6:80–84

Late results of palmar arch bypass in the treatment of digital trophic disorders. Barral et al. (France) 1992; 6:418–424

Pelvic blood flow following aortobifemoral bypass with proximal end-to-side anastomosis. O'Connor et al. (USA) 1992; 6:493–498

Peroneal artery bypass: A multifactorial analysis. Shortell et al. (USA) 1992; 6:15–19

Renal revascularization in high–risk patients: The role of iliac renal bypass. Fichelle et al. (France) 1992; 6:403–407

Safety of saline irrigation for angioscopy: Results of a prospective randomized trial. Kwolek et al. (USA) 1992; 6:62–68

Saphenous vein endothelium-dependent relaxation in patients with peripheral vascular disease. Schwartz et al. (USA) 1992; 6:425–432

Unilateral iliac artery occlusive disease: A randomized multicenter examining direct revascularization versus crossover bypass. Association Universitaire de Recherche en Chirurgie and Ricco. (France) 1992; 6:209–219

C

Carcinoma

Arterioureteral fistula after extended resection of pelvic tumors: Report of three cases and review of the literature. Dervanian et al. (France) 1992; 6:362–369

Malignant fibrous histiocytoma of the aorta complicated by anuria. Fonseca et al. (Spain) 1992; 6:164–167

Carotid artery

Aneurysms of the extracranial internal carotid artery due to fibromuscular dysplasia: Results of surgical management. Bour et al. (France) 1992; 6:205–208

Enhanced surgical exposure for the high extracranial internal carotid artery. Nelson et al. (USA) 1992; 6:467–472

An evaluation of color duplex scanning in the primary diagnosis and management of carotid body tumors. Worsey et al. (USA) 1992; 6:90–94

Improved carotid hemodynamics with vertebral reconstruction. Archie. (USA) 1992; 6:138–141

Persistent hypoglossal artery: An anomaly leading to false-positive carotid duplex sonography. Widmann and Sumpio. (USA) 1992; 6:176–178

Carotid artery lesions

Amaurosis fugax: Is it innocuous? Rosenthal et al. (USA) 1992; 6:281–288

Carotid artery obstruction

Diagnostic value of automatically interpreted oculopneumoplethysmography. de Geus et al. (The Netherlands) 1992; 6:142–146

Carotid artery occlusion

Improved carotid hemodynamics with vertebral reconstruction. Archie. (USA) 1992; 6:138–141

Carotid artery stenosis

Bilateral severe carotid stenosis or occlusion and computed tomographic scan positive hemispheric stroke with neurologic deficit: Immediate contralateral carotid endarterectomy. Sannella. (USA) 1992; 6:252–257

The evolution of carotid and coronary artery disease after operation for carotid stenosis. Ricco et al. (France) 1992; 6:408–412

Unilateral carotid stenosis and impaired cerebral hemispheric vascular reserve. Lord et al. (Australia) 1992; 6:438–442

Carotid endarterectomy

Amaurosis fugax: Is it innocuous? Rosenthal et al. (USA) 1992; 6:281–288

Bilateral severe carotid stenosis or occlusion and computed tomographic scan positive hemispheric stroke with neurologic deficit: Immediate contralateral carotid endarterectomy. Sannella. (USA) 1992; 6:252–257

Carotid endarterectomy in the elderly. Treiman et al. (USA) 1992; 6:321–324

Enhanced surgical exposure for the high extracranial internal carotid artery. Nelson et al. (USA) 1992; 6:467–472

The evolution of carotid and coronary artery disease after operation for carotid stenosis. Ricco et al. (France) 1992; 6:408–412

Hemodynamic effects of primary closure versus patch angioplasty of the carotid artery. Fietsam et al. (USA) 1992; 6:443–449

Risk of prophylactic contralateral carotid endarterectomy. Calligaro et al. (USA) 1992; 6:147–152

Unilateral carotid stenosis and impaired cerebral hemispheric vascular reserve. Lord et al. (Australia) 1992; 6:438–442

Carotid tumor

An evaluation of color duplex scanning in the primary diagnosis and management of carotid body tumors. Worsey et al. (USA) 1992; 6:90–94

Catheterization

Arterioureteral fistula after extended resection of pelvic tumors: Report of three cases and review of the literature. Dervanian et al. (France) 1992; 6:362–369

Successful conservative management of iatrogenic femoral arterial trauma. Rivers et al. (USA) 1992; 6:45–49

The synergistic effect of hypercholesterolemia and mechanical injury on intimal hyperplasia. Stevens et al. (USA) 1992; 6:55–61

Caval interruption

Conical endocaval filters with metallic struts: Search for a new model. Kraimps et al. (France) 1992; 6:99–110

Celiac artery

Surgical repair of a celiac axis aneurysm and renal oncocytoma: A single case report. Taheri et al. (USA) 1992; 6:453–455

Cerebral blood flow

Unilateral carotid stenosis and impaired cerebral hemispheric vascular reserve. Lord et al. (Australia) 1992; 6:438–442

Cerebral ischemia

Improved carotid hemodynamics with vertebral reconstruction. Archie. (USA) 1992; 6:138–141

Cervical rib

Cervical rib variant: Report of a case. Kosenak et al. (USA) 1992; 6:292–293

Cirrhosis

Portal hypertension and bleeding esophageal varices. Johansen and Helton. (USA) 1992; 6:553–561

Claudication

Lingual infarction: A review of the literature. Ginzburg et al. (USA) 1992; 6:450–452

Natural history of claudicants with critical hemodynamic indices. Fowl et al. (USA) 1992; 6:31–33

Nonatherosclerotic causes of lower extremity claudication. Park et al. (USA) 1992; 6:541–549

Clinical decision–making

Arterial and prosthetic graft infection. Yeager and Porter. (USA) 1992; 6:485–491

Diabetes mellitus and vascular surgery. Strandness. (USA) 1992; 6:95–98

Diagnostic imaging in peripheral vascular disease. Kozak. (USA) 1992; 6:393–401

Hypercoagulability in vascular surgery patients. Ey. (USA) 1992; 6:313–319

Nonatherosclerotic causes of lower extremity claudication. Park et al. (USA) 1992; 6:541–549

Takayasu's arteritis and temporal arteritis. Procter and Hollier. (USA) 1992; 6:195–198

Coagulation

Hypercoagulability in vascular surgery patients. Ey. (USA) 1992; 6:313–319

Increased intestinal permeability: Implications for thoracoabdominal aneurysm repair. Cohen et al. (USA) 1992; 6:433–437

Collagen vascular disease

Bilateral infrapopliteal artery aneurysm. Katz et al. (USA) 1992; 6:168–170

Colorectal ischemia

Acute colorectal ischemia after aortic surgery: Pathophysiology and prognostic criteria. Farkas et al. (France) 1992; 6:111–118

Computerized surveillance programs

The evolution of carotid and coronary artery disease after operation for carotid stenosis. Ricco et al. (France) 1992; 6:408–412

Congenital anomalies

Double popliteal artery of congenital origin. Allimant et al. (France) 1992; 6:373–377

Coronary artery disease

The evolution of carotid and coronary artery disease after operation for carotid stenosis. Ricco et al. (France) 1992; 6:408–412

D

Dacron graft

Comparative evaluation of the elasticity and flexibility of bioimpregnated knitted grafts. Patel et al. (USA) 1992; 6:127–133

Experimental evaluation of ten clinically used arterial prostheses. Patel et al. (USA) 1992; 6:244–251

Diabetes

Diabetes mellitus and vascular surgery. Strandness. (USA) 1992; 6:95–98

The effect of diabetes on the proliferation of aortic endothelial cells. Santilli et al. (USA) 1992; 6:503–510

Diagnostic imaging

Diagnostic imaging in peripheral vascular disease. Kozak. (USA) 1992; 6:393–401

Persistent hypoglossal artery: An anomaly leading to false-positive carotid duplex sonography. Widmann and Sumpio. (USA) 1992; 6:176–178

Diagnostic techniques
An evaluation of color duplex scanning in the primary diagnosis and management of carotid body tumors. Worsey et al. (USA) 1992; 6:90–94
The repetitive vascular catastrophes of Behçet's disease: A case report with review of the literature. Sherif et al. (USA) 1992; 6:85–89
Digital ischemia
Late results of palmar arch bypass in the treatment of digital trophic disorders. Barral et al. (France) 1992; 6:418–424
Spontaneous peripheral arterial microembolization. Katz and Kohl. (USA) 1992; 6:334–337
Duplex scanning
Duplex scanning for the intraoperative assessment of infrainguinal arterial reconstruction: A useful tool? Cull et al. (USA) 1992; 6:20–24
An evaluation of color duplex scanning in the primary diagnosis and management of carotid body tumors. Worsey et al. (USA) 1992; 6:90–94
Dysplasia
Aneurysms of the extracranial internal carotid artery due to fibromuscular dysplasia: Results of surgical management. Bour et al. (France) 1992; 6:205–208
Dysplastic lesions of renal artery branches: Late results of ex vivo repair. Barral et al. (France) 1992; 6:225–231
Hypertension due to an aneurysm of the left renal artery in a patient with neurofibromatosis. Faggioli et al. (Italy) 1992; 6:456–459

E

Elastin
Characterization of an elastase from aneurysmal aorta which degrades intact aortic elastin. Reilly et al. (USA) 1992; 6:499–502
Elderly patients
Carotid endarterectomy in the elderly. Treiman et al. (USA) 1992; 6:321–324
Electron microscopy
The natural history of intimal flaps caused by angioscopy. Hsiang et al. (Canada) 1992; 6:38–44
Embolism
Radial artery collateral aneurysm: A rare entity resulting from an unusual etiology. Khatri et al. (USA) 1992; 6:530–532
Spontaneous peripheral arterial microembolization. Katz and Kohl. (USA) 1992; 6:334–337
Endocaval filter
Conical endocaval filters with metallic struts: Search for a new model. Kraimps et al. (France) 1992; 6:99–110
Endoscopy
Technique and results of vascular endoscopy in arterial and venous reconstructions. Woefle et al. (Germany) 1992; 6:347–356
Transthoracic endoscopy for upper thoracic chemical sympathectomy. Bardaxoglou et al. (France) 1992; 6:390–392
Endothelial cells
The effect of diabetes on the proliferation of aortic endothelial cells. Santilli et al. (USA) 1992; 6:503–510
Endothelial cell seeding: A review. Welch et al. (United Kingdom) 1992; 6:473–484
Optimal seeding conditions for human endothelial cells. Kent et al. (USA) 1992; 6:258–264
Endothelium-dependent relaxation
Saphenous vein endothelium-dependent relaxation in patients with peripheral vascular disease. Schwartz et al. (USA) 1992; 6:425–432
Esophageal bleeding
Portal hypertension and bleeding esophageal varices. Johansen and Helton. (USA) 1992; 6:553–561
Experimental studies
The arterial wall response to intimal injury in an experimental model. Neville et al. (USA) 1992; 6:50–54
Experimental evaluation of ten clinically used arterial prostheses. Patel et al. (USA) 1992; 6:244–251
Hemodynamic effects of primary closure versus patch angioplasty of the carotid artery. Fietsam et al. (USA) 1992; 6:443–449
Jacques Oudot and his contribution to surgery of the aortic bifurcation. Natali. (France) 1992; 6:185–192
The synergistic effect of hypercholesterolemia and mechanical injury on intimal hyperplasia. Stevens et al. (USA) 1992; 6:55–61
Extraanatomic bypass
The influence of groin sepsis on extraanatomic bypass patency in patients with prosthetic graft infection. Taylor et al. (USA) 1992; 6:80–84
Unilateral iliac artery occlusive disease: A randomized multicenter examining direct revascularization versus crossover bypass. Association Universitaire de Recherche en Chirurgie and Ricco. (France) 1992; 6:209–219
Extrahepatic portal vein
Extrahepatic portal vein aneurysm: Report of a case treated by thrombectomy and aneurysmorrhaphy. Glazer et al. (USA) 1992; 6:338–343
Ex vivo repair
Dysplastic lesions of renal artery branches: Late results of ex vivo repair. Barral et al. (France) 1992; 6:225–231

F

Femoral artery
Aneurysm of lateral circumflex femoral artery in association with multiple atherosclerotic aneurysms. Lancashire and Galland. (England) 1992; 6:289–291
Bypass to the lateral circumflex femoral artery. Gradman. (USA) 1992; 6:344–346
Intraoperative peripheral rotary atherectomy: Early and late clinical results. Ahn et al. (USA) 1992; 6:272–280
Successful conservative management of iatrogenic femoral arterial trauma. Rivers et al. (USA) 1992; 6:45–49
Femorofemoral crossover bypass
Unilateral iliac artery occlusive disease: A randomized multicenter examining direct revascularization versus crossover bypass. Association Universitaire de Recherche en Chirurgie and Ricco. (France) 1992; 6:209–219

Fibromuscular disease
Fibromuscular disease of the external iliac artery. Thévenet et al. (France) 1992; 6:199–204
Fibromuscular disease of the renal artery: A new histopathologic classification. Alimi et al. (France) 1992; 6:220–224
Fibromuscular dysplasia
Aneurysms of the extracranial internal carotid artery due to fibromuscular dysplasia: Results of surgical management. Bour et al. (France) 1992; 6:205–208
Dysplastic lesions of renal artery branches: Late results of ex vivo repair. Barral et al. (France) 1992; 6:225–231
Fibroxanthosarcoma
Malignant fibrous histiocytoma of the aorta complicated by anuria. Fonseca et al. (Spain) 1992; 6:164–167
Filtration
Conical endocaval filters with metallic struts: Search for a new model. Kraimps et al. (France) 1992; 6:99–110
Fistula
Arteriioureteral fistula after extended resection of pelvic tumors: Report of three cases and review of the literature. Dervanian et al. (France) 1992; 6:362–369
Axillobifemoral bypass and aortic exclusion for vascular septic lesions: A multicenter retrospective study of 98 cases. Bacourt et al. (France) 1992; 6:119–126
Radiologic intervention for the failing in situ vein bypass. Tittley et al. (Canada) 1992; 6:25–30
Renal arteriovenous fistula after nephrectomy. Matos et al. (Portugal) 1992; 6:378–380
Successful conservative management of iatrogenic femoral arterial trauma. Rivers et al. (USA) 1992; 6:45–49
Superior mesenteric arteriovenous fistula after ileal resection. François and Thévenet. (France) 1992; 6:370–372
Fluorescein
The role of intravenous fluorescein in the detection of colon ischemia during aortic reconstruction. Bergman et al. (USA) 1992; 6:74–79

G

Gastroduodenal artery
Pseudoaneurysm of the gastroduodenal artery arising within a pancreatic pseudocyst. Bender and Levison. (USA) 1992; 6:171–172
Gee–OPG
Diagnostic value of automatically interpreted oculopneumoplethysmography. de Geus et al. (The Netherlands) 1992; 6:142–146
Giant cell arteritis
Lingual infarction: A review of the literature. Ginzburg et al. (USA) 1992; 6:450–452
Graft
Antiproliferative effect of heparin on human smooth muscle cells cultured from intimal hyperplastic lesions of vein grafts. Gilbertson et al. (USA) 1992; 6:265–271
Arterial and prosthetic graft infection. Yeager and Porter. (USA) 1992; 6:485–491
Comparative evaluation of the elasticity and flexibility of bioimpregnated knitted grafts. Patel et al. (USA) 1992; 6:127–133
Early results of infrainguinal arterial reconstruction with a modified biological conduit. Wagner et al. (USA) 1992; 6:325–333
Endothelial cell seeding: A review. Welch et al. (United Kingdom) 1992; 6:473–484
Experimental evaluation of ten clinically used arterial prostheses. Patel et al. (USA) 1992; 6:244–251
Hemodynamic effects of primary closure versus patch angioplasty of the carotid artery. Fietsam et al. (USA) 1992; 6:443–449
Limitations of subfascial ligation for refractory chronic venous stasis ulceration. Robison et al. (USA) 1992; 6:9–14
Optimal seeding conditions for human endothelial cells. Kent et al. (USA) 1992; 6:258–264
Technique and results of vascular endoscopy in arterial and venous reconstructions. Woefle et al. (Germany) 1992; 6:347–356
Vascular access for hemodialysis: Pathologic features of surgically excised ePTFE grafts. Delorme et al. (Canada) 1992; 6:517–524
Graft infection
Arterial and prosthetic graft infection. Yeager and Porter. (USA) 1992; 6:485–491
Axillobifemoral bypass and aortic exclusion for vascular septic lesions: A multicenter retrospective study of 98 cases. Bacourt et al. (France) 1992; 6:119–126
The influence of groin sepsis on extraanatomic bypass patency in patients with prosthetic graft infection. Taylor et al. (USA) 1992; 6:80–84
Graft patency
Peroneal artery bypass: A multifactorial analysis. Shortell et al. (USA) 1992; 6:15–19
Graft removal
The influence of groin sepsis on extraanatomic bypass patency in patients with prosthetic graft infection. Taylor et al. (USA) 1992; 6:80–84
Greenfield filter
Retrieval of Greenfield filter from the right atrium. Sadighi and Frost. (USA) 1992; 6:173–175
Groin sepsis
The influence of groin sepsis on extraanatomic bypass patency in patients with prosthetic graft infection. Taylor et al. (USA) 1992; 6:80–84

H

Hand aneurysm
Radial artery collateral aneurysm: A rare entity resulting from an unusual etiology. Khatri et al. (USA) 1992; 6:530–532
Hand surgery
Late results of palmar arch bypass in the treatment of digital trophic disorders. Barral et al. (France) 1992; 6:418–424
Hematuria
Arteriioureteral fistula after extended resection of pelvic tumors: Report of three cases and review of the literature. Dervanian et al. (France) 1992; 6:362–369

Hemodialysis
Vascular access for hemodialysis: Pathologic features of surgically excised ePTFE grafts. Delorme et al. (Canada) 1992; 6:517–524
Hemodynamics
Hemodynamic effects of primary closure versus patch angioplasty of the carotid artery. Fietsam et al. (USA) 1992; 6:443–449
The hemodynamics of venous ulceration. Welkie et al. (USA) 1992; 6:1–4
Improved carotid hemodynamics with vertebral reconstruction. Archie. (USA) 1992; 6:138–141
Natural history of claudicants with critical hemodynamic indices. Fowl et al. (USA) 1992; 6:31–33
Risk of prophylactic contralateral carotid endarterectomy. Calligaro et al. (USA) 1992; 6:147–152
Unilateral carotid stenosis and impaired cerebral hemispheric vascular reserve. Lord et al. (Australia) 1992; 6:438–442
Hemorrhage
Increased intestinal permeability: Implications for thoracoabdominal aneurysm repair. Cohen et al. (USA) 1992; 6:433–437
Heparin
Antiproliferative effect of heparin on human smooth muscle cells cultured from intimal hyperplastic lesions of vein grafts. Gilbertson et al. (USA) 1992; 6:265–271
Hepatic cirrhosis
Portal hypertension and bleeding esophageal varices. Johansen and Helton. (USA) 1992; 6:553–561
Hernia
High coincidence of inguinal hernias and abdominal aortic aneurysms. Lehnert and Wadouh. (Germany) 1992; 6:134–137
Histiocytoma
Malignant fibrous histiocytoma of the aorta complicated by anuria. Fonseca et al. (Spain) 1992; 6:164–167
Histology
Chronic histologic changes after vascular clamping are not associated with altered vascular mechanics. Dobrin et al. (USA) 1992; 6:153–159
Histopathologic classification
Fibromuscular disease of the renal artery: A new histopathologic classification. Alimi et al. (France) 1992; 6:220–224
Homocystinuria
Vascular manifestations in homocystinuria. Favre et al. (France) 1992; 6:294–297
Human immunodeficiency virus
Human immunodeficiency virus and infected aneurysm of the abdominal aorta: Report of three cases. Gouny et al. (France) 1992; 6:239–243
Hypercholesterolemia
The synergistic effect of hypercholesterolemia and mechanical injury on intimal hyperplasia. Stevens et al. (USA) 1992; 6:55–61
Hyperhidrosis
Transthoracic endoscopy for upper thoracic chemical sympathectomy. Bardaxoglou et al. (France) 1992; 6:390–392
Hypoglossal artery
Persistent hypoglossal artery: An anomaly leading to false-positive carotid duplex sonography. Widmann and Sumpio. (USA) 1992; 6:176–178

I

Iatrogenic trauma
Successful conservative management of iatrogenic femoral arterial trauma. Rivers et al. (USA) 1992; 6:45–49
Superior mesenteric arteriovenous fistula after ileal resection. François and Thévenet. (France) 1992; 6:370–372
Ileal resection
Superior mesenteric arteriovenous fistula after ileal resection. François and Thévenet. (France) 1992; 6:370–372
Iliac artery
Arterioureteral fistula after extended resection of pelvic tumors: Report of three cases and review of the literature. Dervanian et al. (France) 1992; 6:362–369
Fibromuscular disease of the external iliac artery. Thévenet et al. (France) 1992; 6:199–204
Pelvic blood flow following aortobifemoral bypass with proximal end-to-side anastomosis. O'Connor et al. (USA) 1992; 6:493–498
Sequential intraluminal ultrasound evaluation of balloon angioplasty of an iliac artery lesion. Tabbara et al. (USA) 1992; 6:179–184
Unilateral iliac artery occlusive disease: A randomized multicenter examining direct revascularization versus crossover bypass. Association Universitaire de Recherche en Chirurgie and Ricco. (France) 1992; 6:209–219
Iliac artery aneurysm
Delayed rupture of an internal iliac artery aneurysm following proximal ligation for abdominal aortic aneurysm repair. Deb et al. (USA) 1992; 6:537–540
Iliac-renal bypass
Renal revascularization in high-risk patients: The role of iliac renal bypass. Fichelle et al. (France) 1992; 6:403–407
Iliofemoral bypass
Unilateral iliac artery occlusive disease: A randomized multicenter examining direct revascularization versus crossover bypass. Association Universitaire de Recherche en Chirurgie and Ricco. (France) 1992; 6:209–219
Infection
Arterial and prosthetic graft infection. Yeager and Porter. (USA) 1992; 6:485–491
Axillobifemoral bypass and aortic exclusion for vascular septic lesions: A multicenter retrospective study of 98 cases. Bacourt et al. (France) 1992; 6:119–126
False aneurysm of the abdominal aorta due to Brucella suis. Bergeron et al. (France) 1992; 6:460–463
Human immunodeficiency virus and infected aneurysm of the abdominal aorta: Report of three cases. Gouny et al. (France) 1992; 6:239–243
Infective aneurysm of the popliteal artery due to Salmonella enteritidis. Habozit et al. (France) 1992; 6:464–466

The influence of groin sepsis on extraanatomic bypass patency in patients with prosthetic graft infection. Taylor et al. (USA) 1992; 6:80–84

Infrainguinal arteries

Early results of infrainguinal arterial reconstruction with a modified biological conduit. Wagner et al. (USA) 1992; 6:325–333

Infrainguinal bypass

Safety of saline irrigation for angioscopy: Results of a prospective randomized trial. Kwolek et al. (USA) 1992; 6:62–68

Infrainguinal grafts

Technique and results of vascular endoscopy in arterial and venous reconstructions. Woefle et al. (Germany) 1992; 6:347–356

Infrainguinal reconstruction

Duplex scanning for the intraoperative assessment of infrainguinal arterial reconstruction: A useful tool? Cull et al. (USA) 1992; 6:20–24

Infrapopliteal artery

Bilateral infrapopliteal artery aneurysm. Katz et al. (USA) 1992; 6:168–170

Infrarenal aorta

Management of juxtarenal aortic occlusions: Technique for suprarenal clamp placement. Gupta and Veith. (USA) 1992; 6:306–312

Simultaneous reconstruction of infrarenal abdominal aorta and renal arteries. Branchereau et al. (France) 1992; 6:232–238

Inguinal hernia

High coincidence of inguinal hernias and abdominal aortic aneurysms. Lehnert and Wadouh. (Germany) 1992; 6:134–137

In situ bypass

Radiologic intervention for the failing in situ vein bypass. Tittley et al. (Canada) 1992; 6:25–30

Insulin

The effect of diabetes on the proliferation of aortic endothelial cells. Santilli et al. (USA) 1992; 6:503–510

Interleukin-1

Interleukin-1 and thromboxane release after skeletal muscle ischemia and reperfusion. Ascer et al. (USA) 1992; 6:69–73

Interventional radiology

Radiologic intervention for the failing in situ vein bypass. Tittley et al. (Canada) 1992; 6:25–30

Intestinal ischemia

The role of intravenous fluorescein in the detection of colon ischemia during aortic reconstruction. Bergman et al. (USA) 1992; 6:74–79

Intestinal permeability

Increased intestinal permeability: Implications for thoracoabdominal aneurysm repair. Cohen et al. (USA) 1992; 6:433–437

Intimal flaps

The natural history of intimal flaps caused by angioscopy. Hsiang et al. (Canada) 1992; 6:38–44

Intimal hyperplasia

Antiproliferative effect of heparin on human smooth muscle cells cultured from intimal hyperplastic lesions of vein grafts. Gilbertson et al. (USA) 1992; 6:265–271

The synergistic effect of hypercholesterolemia and mechanical injury on intimal hyperplasia. Stevens et al. (USA) 1992; 6:55–61

Intimal injury

The arterial wall response to intimal injury in an experimental model. Neville et al. (USA) 1992; 6:50–54

Intravenous fluorescein

The role of intravenous fluorescein in the detection of colon ischemia during aortic reconstruction. Bergman et al. (USA) 1992; 6:74–79

Ischemia

Acute colorectal ischemia after aortic surgery: Pathophysiology and prognostic criteria. Farkas et al. (France) 1992; 6:111–118

Interleukin-1 and thromboxane release after skeletal muscle ischemia and reperfusion. Ascer et al. (USA) 1992; 6:69–73

Laser Doppler flowmetry in lower extremity ischemia: Application and interpretation. Walden et al. (Israel) 1992; 6:511–516

Natural history of claudicants with critical hemodynamic indices. Fowl et al. (USA) 1992; 6:31–33

Nonatherosclerotic causes of lower extremity claudication. Park et al. (USA) 1992; 6:541–549

Pelvic blood flow following aortobifemoral bypass with proximal end-to-side anastomosis. O'Connor et al. (USA) 1992; 6:493–498

The role of intravenous fluorescein in the detection of colon ischemia during aortic reconstruction. Bergman et al. (USA) 1992; 6:74–79

Spontaneous peripheral arterial microembolization. Katz and Kohl. (USA) 1992; 6:334–337

Vascular manifestations in homocystinuria. Favre et al. (France) 1992; 6:294–297

L

Laser Doppler flowmetry

Laser Doppler flowmetry in lower extremity ischemia: Application and interpretation. Walden et al. (Israel) 1992; 6:511–516

Lesions

Amaurosis fugax: Is it innocuous? Rosenthal et al. (USA) 1992; 6:281–288

Antiproliferative effect of heparin on human smooth muscle cells cultured from intimal hyperplastic lesions of vein grafts. Gilbertson et al. (USA) 1992; 6:265–271

Axillobifemoral bypass and aortic exclusion for vascular septic lesions: A multicenter retrospective study of 98 cases. Bacourt et al. (France) 1992; 6: 119–126

Dysplastic lesions of renal artery branches: Late results of ex vivo repair. Barral et al. (France) 1992; 6:225–231

Sequential intraluminal ultrasound evaluation of balloon angioplasty of an iliac artery lesion. Tabbara et al. (USA) 1992; 6:179–184

Ligation

Delayed rupture of an internal iliac artery aneurysm following proximal ligation for abdominal aortic aneurysm repair. Deb et al. (USA) 1992; 6: 537–540

High ligation of the greater saphenous vein for treatment of lower extremity varicosities: The fate of the vein and therapeutic results. Friedell et al. (USA) 1992; 6:5–8
Limitations of subfascial ligation for refractory chronic venous stasis ulceration. Robison et al. (USA) 1992; 6:9–14

Limb salvage
Natural history of claudicants with critical hemodynamic indices. Fowl et al. (USA) 1992; 6:31–33

Lingual infarction
Lingual infarction: A review of the literature. Ginzburg et al. (USA) 1992; 6:450–452

Lithotomy
Neurovascular lower extremity complications of the lithotomy position. Fowl et al. (USA) 1992; 6:357–361

Lower extremity ischemia
Laser Doppler flowmetry in lower extremity ischemia: Application and interpretation. Walden et al. (Israel) 1992; 6:511–516
Nonatherosclerotic causes of lower extremity claudication. Park et al. (USA) 1992; 6:541–549

Lower limb ischemia
Vascular manifestations in homocystinuria. Favre et al. (France) 1992; 6:294–297

M

Mandibular osteotomy
Enhanced surgical exposure for the high extracranial internal carotid artery. Nelson et al. (USA) 1992; 6:467–472

Mechanical injury
The synergistic effect of hypercholesterolemia and mechanical injury on intimal hyperplasia. Stevens et al. (USA) 1992; 6:55–61

Metalloenzymes
Characterization of an elastase from aneurysmal aorta which degrades intact aortic elastin. Reilly et al. (USA) 1992; 6:499–502

Microembolization
Spontaneous peripheral arterial microembolization. Katz and Kohl. (USA) 1992; 6:334–337

Myocardial infarction
The evolution of carotid and coronary artery disease after operation for carotid stenosis. Ricco et al. (France) 1992; 6:408–412

N

Nephrectomy
Renal arteriovenous fistula after nephrectomy. Matos et al. (Portugal) 1992; 6:378–380
Surgical repair of a celiac axis aneurysm and renal oncocytoma: A single case report. Taheri et al. (USA) 1992; 6:453–455

Neurofibromatosis
Hypertension due to an aneurysm of the left renal artery in a patient with neurofibromatosis. Faggioli et al. (Italy) 1992; 6:456–459

Neurologic complications
The evolution of carotid and coronary artery disease after operation for carotid stenosis. Ricco et al. (France) 1992; 6:408–412
Neurovascular lower extremity complications of the lithotomy position. Fowl et al. (USA) 1992; 6:357–361
Risk of prophylactic contralateral carotid endarterectomy. Calligaro et al. (USA) 1992; 6:147–152

O

Occlusion
Acute colorectal ischemia after aortic surgery: Pathophysiology and prognostic criteria. Farkas et al. (France) 1992; 6:111–118
Bilateral severe carotid stenosis or occlusion and computed tomographic scan positive hemispheric stroke with neurologic deficit: Immediate contralateral carotid endarterectomy. Sannella. (USA) 1992; 6:252–257
Chronic histologic changes after vascular clamping are not associated with altered vascular mechanics. Dobrin et al. (USA) 1992; 6:153–159

Simultaneous reconstruction of infrarenal abdominal aorta and renal arteries. Branchereau et al. (France) 1992; 6:232–238
Successful percutaneous balloon catheter treatment of renal artery occlusion and anuria. Schneider et al. (USA) 1992; 6:533–536
Unilateral iliac artery occlusive disease: A randomized multicenter examining direct revascularization versus crossover bypass. Association Universitaire de Recherche en Chirurgie and Ricco. (France) 1992; 6:209–219

Oculopneumoplethysmography
Diagnostic value of automatically interpreted oculopneumoplethysmography. de Geus et al. (The Netherlands) 1992; 6:142–146

Oral contraceptives
Vascular manifestations in homocystinuria. Favre et al. (France) 1992; 6:294–297

Oudot, Jacques
Jacques Oudot and his contribution to surgery of the aortic bifurcation. Natali. (France) 1992; 6:185–192

Oxygen–free radicals
Acute colorectal ischemia after aortic surgery: Pathophysiology and prognostic criteria. Farkas et al. (France) 1992; 6:111–118

P

Palmar arteries
Late results of palmar arch bypass in the treatment of digital trophic disorders. Barral et al. (France) 1992; 6:418–424

Pancreatic pseudocyst
Pseudoaneurysm of the gastroduodenal artery arising within a pancreatic pseudocyst. Bender and Levison. (USA) 1992; 6:171–172

Patch angioplasty
Hemodynamic effects of primary closure versus patch angioplasty of the carotid artery. Fietsam et al. (USA) 1992; 6:443–449

Pelvic carcinoma
Arterioureteral fistula after extended resection of pelvic tumors: Report of three cases and review of the literature. Dervanian et al. (France) 1992; 6:362–369
Pelvic ischemia
Pelvic blood flow following aortobifemoral bypass with proximal end-to-side anastomosis. O'Connor et al. (USA) 1992; 6:493–498
Percutaneous transluminal dilatation
Radiologic intervention for the failing in situ vein bypass. Tittley et al. (Canada) 1992; 6:25–30
Perforation
Limitations of subfascial ligation for refractory chronic venous stasis ulceration. Robison et al. (USA) 1992; 6:9–14
Peripheral vascular disease
Aortic false aneurysms after prosthetic reconstruction of the infrarenal aorta. Gautier et al. (France) 1992; 6:413–417
Atraumatic vascular anastomoses using a tourniquet. Collier. (USA) 1992; 6:34–37
Diagnostic imaging in peripheral vascular disease. Kozak. (USA) 1992; 6:393–401

Spontaneous peripheral arterial microembolization. Katz and Kohl. (USA) 1992; 6:334–337
Peripheral vascular surgery
The influence of groin sepsis on extraanatomic bypass patency in patients with prosthetic graft infection. Taylor et al. (USA) 1992; 6:80–84
Peroneal artery bypass
Peroneal artery bypass: A multifactorial analysis. Shortell et al. (USA) 1992; 6:15–19
Persistent sciatic artery
Double popliteal artery of congenital origin. Allimant et al. (France) 1992; 6:373–377
Phlebitis
Infective aneurysm of the popliteal artery due to Salmonella enteritidis. Habozit et al. (France) 1992; 6:464–466
Physical therapy
Rehabilitation of patients with thoracic outlet syndrome. Aligne and Barral. (France) 1992; 6:381–389
Popliteal artery
Behçet's disease revealed by double peripheral arterial involvement. Chaillou. (France) 1992; 6:160–163
A case of popliteal cystic degeneration with pathologic considerations. Inoue et al. (Japan) 1992; 6:525–529
Double popliteal artery of congenital origin. Allimant et al. (France) 1992; 6:373–377
Infective aneurysm of the popliteal artery due to Salmonella enteritidis. Habozit et al. (France) 1992; 6:464–466
Intraoperative peripheral rotary atherectomy: Early and late clinical results. Ahn et al. (USA) 1992; 6:272–280
Portal hypertension
Portal hypertension and bleeding esophageal varices. Johansen and Helton. (USA) 1992; 6:553–561
Postoperative complications
Acute colorectal ischemia after aortic surgery: Pathophysiology and prognostic criteria. Farkas et al. (France) 1992; 6:111–118
Increased intestinal permeability: Implications for thoracoabdominal aneurysm repair. Cohen et al. (USA) 1992; 6:433–437
Renal arteriovenous fistula after nephrectomy. Matos et al. (Portugal) 1992; 6:378–380
Preclotting
Comparative evaluation of the elasticity and flexibility of bioimpregnated knitted grafts. Patel et al. (USA) 1992; 6:127–133
Prophylactic contralateral carotid endarterectomy
Risk of prophylactic contralateral carotid endarterectomy. Calligaro et al. (USA) 1992; 6:147–152
Prostheses
Aortic false aneurysms after prosthetic reconstruction of the infrarenal aorta. Gautier et al. (France) 1992; 6:413–417
Arterial and prosthetic graft infection. Yeager and Porter. (USA) 1992; 6:485–491
Experimental evaluation of ten clinically used arterial prostheses. Patel et al. (USA) 1992; 6:244–251
Optimal seeding conditions for human endothelial cells. Kent et al. (USA) 1992; 6:258–264
Pseudoaneurysm
Aortic false aneurysms after prosthetic reconstruction of the infrarenal aorta. Gautier et al. (France) 1992; 6:413–417
False aneurysm of the abdominal aorta due to Brucella suis. Bergeron et al. (France) 1992; 6:460–463
Pseudoaneurysm of the gastroduodenal artery arising within a pancreatic pseudocyst. Bender and Levison. (USA) 1992; 6:171–172
The repetitive vascular catastrophes of Behçet's disease: A case report with review of the literature. Sherif et al. (USA) 1992; 6:85–89
Successful conservative management of iatrogenic femoral arterial trauma. Rivers et al. (USA) 1992; 6:45–49
PTFE graft
Experimental evaluation of ten clinically used arterial prostheses. Patel et al. (USA) 1992; 6:244–251
Optimal seeding conditions for human endothelial cells. Kent et al. (USA) 1992; 6:258–264

ePTFE graft
Hemodynamic effects of primary closure versus patch angioplasty of the carotid artery. Fietsam et al. (USA) 1992; 6:443–449
Vascular access for hemodialysis: Pathologic features of surgically excised ePTFE grafts. Delorme et al. (Canada) 1992; 6:517–524
Pulmonary embolism
Vascular manifestations in homocystinuria. Favre et al. (France) 1992; 6:294–297

R

Raynaud's syndrome
Transthoracic endoscopy for upper thoracic chemical sympathectomy. Bardaxoglou et al. (France) 1992; 6:390–392
Renal artery
Dysplastic lesions of renal artery branches: Late results of ex vivo repair. Barral et al. (France) 1992; 6:225–231
Fibromuscular disease of the external iliac artery. Thévenet et al. (France) 1992; 6:199–204
Fibromuscular disease of the renal artery: A new histopathologic classification. Alimi et al. (France) 1992; 6:220–224
Hypertension due to an aneurysm of the left renal artery in a patient with neurofibromatosis. Faggioli et al. (Italy) 1992; 6:456–459
Management of juxtarenal aortic occlusions: Technique for suprarenal clamp placement. Gupta and Veith. (USA) 1992; 6:306–312
Renal arteriovenous fistula after nephrectomy. Matos et al. (Portugal) 1992; 6:378–380
Renal revascularization in high-risk patients: The role of iliac renal bypass. Fichelle et al. (France) 1992; 6:403–407
Renal artery occlusion
Successful percutaneous balloon catheter treatment of renal artery occlusion and anuria. Schneider et al. (USA) 1992; 6:533–536
Renal artery reconstruction
Simultaneous reconstruction of infrarenal abdominal aorta and renal arteries. Branchereau et al. (France) 1992; 6:232–238
Renal insufficiency
Renal revascularization in high-risk patients: The role of iliac renal bypass. Fichelle et al. (France) 1992; 6:403–407
Renal oncocytoma
Surgical repair of a celiac axis aneurysm and renal oncocytoma: A single case report. Taheri et al. (USA) 1992; 6:453–455
Renal perfusion
A simple technique of renal transplant preservation during aortic reconstruction. Laborde et al. (USA) 1992; 6:550–552
Renovascular hypertension
Dysplastic lesions of renal artery branches: Late results of ex vivo repair. Barral et al. (France) 1992; 6:225–231
Fibromuscular disease of the renal artery: A new histopathologic classification. Alimi et al. (France) 1992; 6:220–224
Hypertension due to an aneurysm of the left renal artery in a patient with neurofibromatosis. Faggioli et al. (Italy) 1992; 6:456–459
Renal revascularization in high-risk patients: The role of iliac renal bypass. Fichelle et al. (France) 1992; 6:403–407
Reperfusion injury
Interleukin-1 and thromboxane release after skeletal muscle ischemia and reperfusion. Ascer et al. (USA) 1992; 6:69–73
Revascularization
Renal revascularization in high-risk patients: The role of iliac renal bypass. Fichelle et al. (France) 1992; 6:403–407

Unilateral iliac artery occlusive disease: A randomized multicenter examining direct revascularization versus crossover bypass. Association Universitaire de Recherche en Chirurgie and Ricco. (France) 1992; 6:209–219
Rotary atherectomy
Intraoperative peripheral rotary atherectomy: Early and late clinical results. Ahn et al. (USA) 1992; 6:272–280
Rupture
Delayed rupture of an internal iliac artery aneurysm following proximal ligation for abdominal aortic aneurysm repair. Deb et al. (USA) 1992; 6: 537–540

S

Saline irrigation
Safety of saline irrigation for angioscopy: Results of a prospective randomized trial. Kwolek et al. (USA) 1992; 6:62–68 Salmonella enteritidis
Infective aneurysm of the popliteal artery due to Salmonella enteritidis. Habozit et al. (France) 1992; 6:464–466
Saphenous vein
Saphenous vein endothelium-dependent relaxation in patients with peripheral vascular disease. Schwartz et al. (USA) 1992; 6:425–432
Saphenous vein graft
Antiproliferative effect of heparin on human smooth muscle cells cultured from intimal hyperplastic lesions of vein grafts. Gilbertson et al. (USA) 1992; 6:265–271
Saphenous vein ligation
High ligation of the greater saphenous vein for treatment of lower extremity varicosities: The fate of the vein and therapeutic results. Friedell et al. (USA) 1992; 6:5–8
Sclerotherapy
High ligation of the greater saphenous vein for treatment of lower extremity varicosities: The fate of the vein and therapeutic results. Friedell et al. (USA) 1992; 6:5–8

Skeletal muscle ischemia
Interleukin-1 and thromboxane release after skeletal muscle ischemia and reperfusion. Ascer et al. (USA) 1992; 6:69–73

Skin graft
Limitations of subfascial ligation for refractory chronic venous stasis ulceration. Robison et al. (USA) 1992; 6:9–14

Smooth muscle cells
Antiproliferative effect of heparin on human smooth muscle cells cultured from intimal hyperplastic lesions of vein grafts. Gilbertson et al. (USA) 1992; 6:265–271

SPECT scanning
Unilateral carotid stenosis and impaired cerebral hemispheric vascular reserve. Lord et al. (Australia) 1992; 6:438–442

Splenorenal bypass

Stenosis
The evolution of carotid and coronary artery disease after operation for carotid stenosis. Ricco et al. (France) 1992; 6:408–412
Unilateral carotid stenosis and impaired cerebral hemispheric vascular reserve. Lord et al. (Australia) 1992; 6:438–442

Stroke
Amaurosis fugax: Is it innocuous? Rosenthal et al. (USA) 1992; 6:281–288
Bilateral severe carotid stenosis or occlusion and computed tomographic scan positive hemispheric stroke with neurologic deficit: Immediate contralateral carotid endarterectomy. Sannella. (USA) 1992; 6:252–257

Subclavian vessels
Cervical rib variant: Report of a case. Kosenak et al. (USA) 1992; 6:292–293
Radial artery collateral aneurysm: A rare entity resulting from an unusual etiology. Khatri et al. (USA) 1992; 6:530–532

Superior mesenteric artery
Superior mesenteric arteriovenous fistula after ileal resection. François and Thévenet. (France) 1992; 6: 370–372

Supraceliac aortic cross-clamping
Increased intestinal permeability: Implications for thoracoabdominal aneurysm repair. Cohen et al. (USA) 1992; 6:433–437

Suprarenal aorta
Management of juxtarenal aortic occlusions: Technique for suprarenal clamp placement. Gupta and Veith. (USA) 1992; 6:306–312

Surgical management
Aneurysms of the extracranial internal carotid artery due to fibromuscular dysplasia: Results of surgical management. Bour et al. (France) 1992; 6:205–208

Surgical techniques
Management of juxtarenal aortic occlusions: Technique for suprarenal clamp placement. Gupta and Veith. (USA) 1992; 6:306–312
Retrieval of Greenfield filter from the right atrium. Sadighi and Frost. (USA) 1992; 6:173–175
A simple technique of renal transplant preservation during aortic reconstruction. Laborde et al. (USA) 1992; 6:550–552
Technique and results of vascular endoscopy in arterial and venous reconstructions. Woefle et al. (Germany) 1992; 6:347–356

Takayasu's disease
Takayasu's arteritis and temporal arteritis. Procter and Hollier. (USA) 1992; 6:195–198

Thoracic outlet syndrome
Rehabilitation of patients with thoracic outlet syndrome. Aligne and Barral. (France) 1992; 6:381–389

Thoracic sympathectomy
Transthoracic endoscopy for upper thoracic chemical sympathectomy. Bardaxoglou et al. (France) 1992; 6:390–392

Thoracoscopy
Transthoracic endoscopy for upper thoracic chemical sympathectomy. Bardaxoglou et al. (France) 1992; 6:390–392

Thrombectomy
Extrahepatic portal vein aneurysm: Report of a case treated by thrombectomy and aneurysmorrhaphy. Glazer et al. (USA) 1992; 6:338–343
Technique and results of vascular endoscopy in arterial and venous reconstructions. Woefle et al. (Germany) 1992; 6:347–356

Thrombosis
The arterial wall response to intimal injury in an experimental model. Neville et al. (USA) 1992; 6:50–54

Thromboxane
Interleukin-1 and thromboxane release after skeletal muscle ischemia and reperfusion. Ascer et al. (USA) 1992; 6:69–73

Tibial artery
Behçet's disease revealed by double peripheral arterial involvement. Chaillou. (France) 1992; 6:160–163
Intraoperative peripheral rotary atherectomy: Early and late clinical results. Ahn et al. (USA) 1992; 6:272–280

Tourniquet
Atraumatic vascular anastomoses using a tourniquet. Collier. (USA) 1992; 6:34–37

Transplantation
Dysplastic lesions of renal artery branches: Late results of ex vivo repair. Barral et al. (France) 1992; 6:225–231
A simple technique of renal transplant preservation during aortic reconstruction. Laborde et al. (USA) 1992; 6:550–552

Tumor
An evaluation of color duplex scanning in the primary diagnosis and management of carotid body tumors. Worsey et al. (USA) 1992; 6:90–94

U

Ulceration
The hemodynamics of venous ulceration. Welkie et al. (USA) 1992; 6:1–4
Limitations of subfascial ligation for refractory chronic venous stasis ulceration. Robison et al. (USA) 1992; 6:9–14
